Plans for 1947

Plans for the 1947 Trail Rides have to be tentative as yet, but taking all things into consideration the locality most favoured for the central base camp will be on the shores of a small lake nestling on a plateau on the shoulder of Monarch Mountain. This mountain overlooks Red Earth Pass which separates the range, of which Simpson Summit provides excellent riding country, and that other rugged range in British Columbia containing the beautiful lakes known as Egypt, Scarab and Mummy. Fred Laidlaw, accompanied by Bruce Mitchell of the Parks Branch and Claude Brewster rode over this territory last September and located what they considered an ideal site.

The plan of having a central base camp instead of changing camp every day has proved to be so popular that it can no longer be considered an experiment. There is indeed the possibility that there may be a third Trail Ride dated for the second week-end of August, as a number of enquiries indicate that this period might suit the convenience of quite a few who don't find it easy to get away in July. Moreover the teepee and sleeping-bag equipment is earmarked for the Sky Line Trail Hikers who have set their hearts on Egypt Lake as their campsite for the first week-end of August. The Trail Riders want to be closer to Simpson Summit, and so Monarch Mountain is their more convenient campsite. But the Teepees can easily be moved from one site to the other.

To get to either campsite, the starting place will be the corral at Sunshine Lodge, reached by bus from Banff. Healey Creek is a historic route, for it was up Healey Creek that Sir George Simpson with James Rowand in 1941 made the first lap of his great Overland Journey Round the World. The continuation of the trail over Simpson Pass is also historic, for one of its forks is worn deep by the cavalcades of Stoney and Kootenay Indians who for over a century made a practice of making exchange visits to engage in friendly races and other such sports. It is over that Indian trail that we shall probably ride ourselves.

The names of the peaks and lakes on the western range were placed on the map by the celebrated Dominion Government surveyor, the late A. O. Wheeler, founder of the Alpine Club of Canada and in his day an honorary member and firm friend of the Trail Riders. Hence Pharoah Creek and Pharoah Mountain and that lake named Eohippus which the Trail Riders of 1943 decided was the wettest spot on earth.

Among the trails which we hope to ride will be one to Harvey Pass which we were prevented by bad weather from reaching in 1943. Here are magnificent panoramas stretching North and South.

There will be trout fishing for those who bring flies and a license. The lakes are stocked and protected, not to mention Pharoah Creek. Fred Laidlaw's photographs, reproduced in this Bulletin, give some idea of the terrain.

Halter Breaking a Bronck:

by CLAUDE BREWSTER

ONE of the best ways in the world to get your head chopped off is to stick your neck out, otherwise to say you know something especially about breaking horses.

I'm starting out by saying, "What I believe to be"—

However as I have been in the ranch and Dude business all my life and am operating the biggest horse outfit in Canada, I should know something about the above subject.

Beside having broken horses myself, I have worked with men from all over Canada and the Western States. There are as many different ideas of how and what to do as there are men in the business. I learned long ago not to try and force my ideas on any man as long as he does not get too abusive, and gets results. The rest does not matter too much. However some of the methods are superior to others. One method may work better on one horse than on another.

To start with, each horse is an individual and has a character and disposition of his own. This should be taken into consideration when working on said horse.

It is advisable to start to break a horse as young as possible, which is about 3 or 4 years of age.

A horse raised in a barn gets his development about one year ahead of one raised on the range.

What comes next is——Here you have an animal of some 900 to 1000 lbs in a bunch of horses as wild in some cases as a deer. He will probably strike, kick and bite if given the opportunity. All you have to do now is get him separate from the bunch and into a corral alone. A round corral is preferable so he cannot get you into a corner.

The next job is to get a halter on the cute little fellow. What did you say?—"just walk up and buckle it on". I don't think I would: he might put his front feet in your shirt pockets; anyway that is the north end you are looking at. It is always that way with a bronck.

No I think we'd better run him into a shoot or squeeze gate. This method has some advantages as it does not scare a horse so much to start with.

It is advisable to pet him considerably while in the squeeze, as he soon learns that you do not intend to hurt him. Gaining the horse's confidence is half the battle.

Before you let the horse out of the shoot it is advisable to tie a good long rope onto the halter rope. Then not let him out into too large corral so that you can always hold onto the rope. On the other hand if on a short rope the horse pulls away from you, he might easily form a habit that he never forgets.

The next step is to make him face you by pulling him from side to side. As soon as he faces you it is advisable to work closer and closer to him until you get your hand on his head, preferably above his eyes, because as long as his attention is attracted looking up he will not strike. It seems that a horse always looks down before he strikes. He might bite you, but if you watch his ears and eyes you can tell what his intentions are. A young horse at least, seems to be a little afraid to bite a man and consequently seems slow with his intentions in this respect. Once you can get up to him, it pays to rub under the halter where it is beginning to irritate, as he soon appreciates this.

Halter breaking is slow tedious work, as you must go back to pulling him around from side to side every few minutes. It pays to get up to him and run your hand under the halter and further back each time.

Always keep the slack out of the halter rope and don't lean over toward a horse at anytime. That way you are off balance in case he comes for you. As you get more familiar with him, stand close to his shoulder; because if he does strike and bite you he has not the same stroke as if you are further back.

It is generally advisable to tie a horse up for awhile and let him pull if he wants to. For this reason a poor halter or rope should never be used, because if the horse when tied breaks away he will almost certainly form a bad habit.

Another method of getting a halter on a colt, and one that is used a great deal in the West, is to front foot and upset him. This seems a little rough but sometimes has some advantage in that it takes considerable fight out of the horse before he gets up.

In my mind it is essential to finish halter breaking a horse before he is turned loose the first day. That is to get him to where he will follow you around the corral. An other good idea is, when you take the halter off immediately work up to the horse before he realizes he is loose, and put the halter back on several times. This process has a tendency to make him much easier to halter next day.

Mystery in a Teepee

by M. Warda Drummond
(All rights reserved by the author)

(A one-act Play)

TIME—Cool evening, early August—Trail Riders' Camp.

PLACE—Deep in the Rocky Mountains, Canada.

BACKGROUND—

General Effect—of being high in the mountains.
of friendly comradeship.
of mild suspense.

Centre left, down stage—Bonfire. Logs placed in semi-circle used as back rests for Trail Riders sitting in colourful blankets on the ground.
Directly behind bonfire is Main Teepee.

Outside the flap on a rack is Dr. Morrows' favourite Western saddle.

Right side, down stage—Teepee, not near others.

Back Stage—Teepees. Drop curtain portraying valley, rocky mountains in the distance and evening sky.

General . . .—Teepees, when fires burn within, appear painted with phosphorescent silver. Background has deep rich blue shadings. Colours generally are brilliant and mellow.

CHARACTERS—

George Benson—
Two silent Cowboys—

Ralph—
Mr. & Mrs. Roger Snowdon—
Montana—

Mrs. Stanhope—
Bill Colby—

Boss of Cowboys.
'Props' men, who make themselves generally useful.
Popular singing Cowboy.
Devoted elderly couple.
Exuberant 20 year old girl from Montana.
Grass widow.
Camp photographer.

Mrs. Muriel S. Rockcliffe—
Dr. Lindsay Morrow—
John Yates—

Leonard Newcomb—

Margot Rogers—

Mr. & Mrs. Henry Sieburg—

Ardent botanist.
Pioneer Trail Rider.
President of Trail Riders (Canadian)
Past president of Trail Riders. (American)
25 year old spinster, also American.
New Trail Riders, registered from New York.

SCENE OPENS—(It is dusk. George Benson and two Cowboy 'props' are preparing bonfire. They are not conspicuous in dress, build or personality. Cowboy is heard in background strumming on his guitar and singing in wistful, lilting tones).

*'Deep in the Valley—Valley Yoho,
Hear the train blow love, hear the train blow.'*

(As fires are lit in teepees each one begins to glow. Shadows are seen to dance on the teepees' canvas walls. Slowly people are seen to hunch out of their teepees and find their places around the fire . . . John Yates, Dr. Morrow & Leonard Newcomb out of large centre Teepee . . . and Mr. & Mrs. Snowdon out of left side teepee.)

*'Hear the train blow love, hear the train blow,
Deep in the Valley—Valley Yoho.'*

Mrs. Snowdon—There's Ralph singing my favourite song, Philip. (Speaking in a gentle voice befitting her neat little figure.)

Mr. Snowdon—(Smiling and nodding his head,) Yes, I remember Wilf Carter singing that song on many a Trail Ride before he became famous.

(He takes out his tobacco pouch, fills and lights his pipe and draws on it contentedly. He is a large, well built man, handsome, well dressed.)

Ralph—(His voice becoming clearer and stronger, still in the background.)

*'Roses are red love, violets are blue,
Angels in Heaven know I love you.
Know I love you, love, know I love you—
Angels in Heaven know I love you.'*

(Ending in a high note . . .)

(As soon as there is a silence, MONTANA, MRS. STANHOPE & BILL COLBY huddle together singing a three-part song, all the while beating time and pantomiming' (3 part song —)

(General cheers and clappings from group sitting around the bonfire.)

John Yates—There don't seem to be so many as usual at the camp fire to night. Where's everybody?

Leonard Newcomb—Gone fishing, I guess— There are tales of five pounders up at the lake we passed five miles back—And the Park Superintendent says they don't rise before sundown.

(As Henry Sieburg and his wife step out of their teepee and look forward the Campfire).

Hullo, new comes! Glad to have you come and join us!

Mr. Sieburg is six feet tall, a trifle over-weight. Is stiff and mechanical in his movements, over-confident, over-bearing and intolerant in his manner, has a large florid face with thick, cruel lips which soften like putty whenever he wants to charm. Mrs. Sieburg is a small, dried-up woman, wearing grey hair in a tight braid around her head. She is silent and sullen when in the company of the Trail Riders, but has a certain morbid strength about her.)

Montana, Mrs. Stanhope & Bill Colby break off singing, then proceed with another song

*'You'll get used to it,
Oh you will get used to it,
—The first Ride is the worst ride,
But you'll get used to it.' . . .*

(They get mixed up in the tune, stop and return to the bonfire.)

Dr. Lindsay Morrow (A man of medium build, medium colouring and a genius for making friends.

Drawing Henry Sieburg into the group by addressing the trio—then Mr. Sieburg).

That last song admittedly was not as well sung as the other one, was it Mr. Sieburg.

Henry Sieburg—It is a kind of music I am not used to. In New York where I come from we hear all the best music and the finest songs in the world.—Of course, since '38 some of the greatest talent of Europe has come to give America culture.

(Sieburg glances at his wife as though for a signal, looks around at the group as though anticipating some hint of esteem, but does not seem conscious that he has only aroused surprise with his bravado. He then stands up expectantly.)

John Yates—(A tall, thin, auburn haired man with a military mustache and long, strong hands. He wears the Air Force battle dress which seems incongruous with his authentic Cowboy boots.)

(Slightly embarrassed, he speaks in formal tones with a friendly laugh at the end of it).

As president, I ask you, Mr. Sieburg, to sing one of those fine songs, I am sure your fellow Trail Riders would like to hear it.

Henry Sieburg—(Immediately thrusts his head and shoulders back, expands his chest, spreads his legs apart and booms forth with exaggerated gestures and voice).

'I love life, and I want to live.'

(He looks around again for applause, sits down only when he has got it.)

Bill Colby—(Stocky build. Shock of brown hair, gay round face and always wears a red silk neckerchief.

Tactlessly mutters),

Give me a good old Cowboy song every time, not that drivel.

John Yates—(Trying to pour oil on troubled waters). You know, Bill, every man to his own taste.

(Bill Colby shrugs his shoulders.)

Montana—(Tall, broad young girl of 20. Rich in colouring, manner and voice. Her clothes are of the finest quality. Wears authentic Cowboy boots, trousers, belt with knife, hat and takes great pride in a colourful shirt with typical scenes of cowboy life in Montana.)

(Shouting to backstage). Hi Ralph, come give us a song. (Singing 'On the good old Rocky trails')

—We're full of mountain boredom. (Speaking to the fireside group)—Don't we be?

(Turns a cartwheel out of sheer exuberance and places herself behind the unused portable organ.)

Ralph—(Appearing from backstage, nonchalant, with a big grin on his frank, freckled face, and with his hat placed at a jaunty angle at the back of his red haired head. He half sits on packing case in front of MONTANA, settles his guitar on his knee, sings, looking into the fire oblivious to his audience. 'Riding and a-guiding'. (The song is to the tune of 'Roamin' in the gloamin''). The group sway with the rhythm.)

Henry Sieburg—(Taking out rope and addressing the Trail Riders).

Here is a trick I learnt down in New York State. They can teach a few things to the cowboys there. (No one interested—drops rope).

(Taking out penknife, placing dollar bill on ground some distance away, then flinging the knife down, blade embeds itself in centre of paper money). What do you think of that? (Polite applause.)

Leonard Newcomb—(A powerfully built man, grey haired, white teeth, not very tall, broad shoulders of about 60 years.)

(Interested) Yes, Sieburg, I'll try that . . . (Unsuccessful attempt.) Oh, I don't seem to get the knack of it, do I?

Henry Sieburg—(In his element) It is quite easy, when you know how. I'm an excellent shot, too. And I'll take any man on with a sabre. Shall I show you, Mr. Newcomb?

Leonard Newcomb—(With a slight shrug) No . . . I don't like the idea of playing with a sabre. I'm afraid that our minds in Philadelphia do not run in that direction. Do they Margot? (Seeking some way to get out.) Except those who are in the Army.

Margot Rogers—(Quiet, attractive girl dressed in various shades of green) No, Leonard, and I wonder if they really do in New York.

(There is another awkward silence.)

Mrs. Stanhope—(Diminutive build, fair hair, very chic, wears definite colours.) (Getting up) Mrs. Rockcliffe, come let us have the three cornered song. What about you Margot? . . . Mrs. Rockcliffe, let over . . .

(Mrs. Stanhope & Margot stand on either side of Mrs. Rockcliffe who goes through the antics of song)—

*My hat it has three corners,
Three corners has my hat,
If it had not three corners,
It would not be my hat.*

. . . eliminating a word at a time and replacing it with a symbol until the song is nothing but a pantomime of grimaces & symbols.)

(Mrs. Muriel S. Rockcliffe is definitely 'A Person'. She is dressed for the North Pole. She has every kind of mountain flower and bush in her cowboy ten gallon, her belt, button holes, and even sticking out of her high boots.)

Mrs. Rockcliffe, after the applause has died down, begins an animated conversation with each and every Trail Rider . . .

Mrs. Rockcliffe—Do you know, Dr. Morrow, that I have found a huge clump of deep purple clematis on the side of the cliff near the Canyon. Very rare. Very rare indeed.

(Turning to Mrs. Snowdon) Botany, my dear Mrs. Snowdon, is an endless study. Endless. (Sighs) (Rapidly whips round and peers into Colby's startled face).

Have you photographed the Indian Paintbrush, Mr. Colby. It is a prize. I have wisp of it here in my belt. A dear, dear wisp.

(Turns completely around and looks enthusiastically at Mrs. Sieburg who only returns her gaze with a phlegmatic stare) Canada has such mountain flora, Mrs. Sieburg. Coming from the prairies as I do I can appreciate every little tendril of the Indian Paintbrush. Every little tendril. I've forgotten the Latin name for it. Latin names are just right for flowers. Full of mystery. Such mystery. Especially when you don't know the meaning. Ah! The meaning of it all!

(Pulling out a red Indian Paintbrush from her hatband and giving it to Mrs. Sieburg.)

Henry Sieburg—(Bowing rigidly to Mrs. Rockcliffe)

I thank you for my wife.

(Montana, Mrs. Stanhope & Bill Colby begin singing quietly). 'You'll get used to it.'

(Mrs. Rockcliffe gets the hint, laughs good humouredly and joins in the singing).

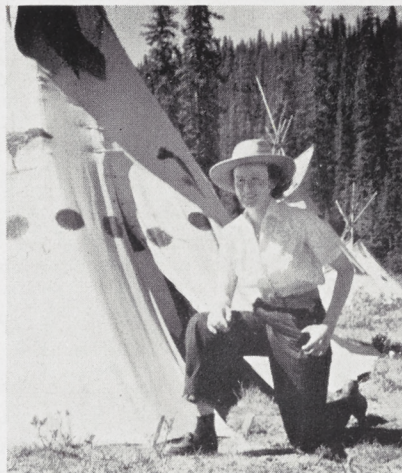

*The first Ride is the worst ride,
But you will get used to it . . .*

Henry Sieburg, (realising that he is out of his element, signals to his wife. They retire to their teepee.)

Bill Colby—(To Mr. Snowdon), There must be something wrong with me. I just don't like that man. (Pointing towards Sieburg's teepee.) He gives me a pain, you know where.

Philip Snowdon—Bill, nothing wrong with you, but Sieburg is certainly strange. And his poor wife—She never talks to anyone, only quarrels with him in their teepee. Can't figure it out at all.

M. Warda Drummond, the author of this playlet, who is a niece of the celebrated Dr. Henry Drummond, author of habitant poems, was a student of drama at the Banff Summer School of Fine Arts, but got leave to join the Trail Ride on condition that she wrote a one-Act play in a Trail Ride setting. This is the result. The names used are, of course, all fictitious.

Montana—He sure is a queer American. Why, out in Montana, that's where you will find bigger and better men. Yippee! And we don't need to brag about it. Not us. No Sir. I guess New York would profit, if she were shy a few more men like Sieburg. Montana is the place for me. (Singing last phrase.)

Bill Colby—Sieburg didn't have a chance this evening to fire all those tedious questions. I don't know about the rest of you, but I was getting fed up with his questions all during this Ride. He thinks he is clever, but he is a subtle as a pig after peelings.

Mrs. Stanhope—Now that I come to think of it, Bill, he is quite inquisitive. (In surprised voice.)

Leonard Newcomb—That's right. Eh Margot? Sieburg kept asking Dr. Morrow, Yates and George Benson and all the old hands at Trail Riding all about the various fire roads, trails and water sheds throughout this district.

Margot Rogers—I wonder why, Leonard.

Mrs. Rockcliffe—(In sweet tones), Maybe he is just interested in this part of the country. It is interesting, you know. Terribly interesting. Especially the flora and fauna . . .

(Looking around for encouragement to proceed on her favourite topic.)

(Group of Trail Riders chuckle. George Benson & props build up fire. Ralph quietly strums on his guitar.)

Bill Colby—Phowie, Mrs. Rockcliffe, Sieburg's after something.

Mrs. Stanhope—You mean that he is after the world's applause. His wife never talks because she never gets a chance to do so. He seems to cast a spell on her.

Mr. Snowdon—(Astutely) He's not the type of man to make friends easily. He certainly tries hard enough, what with his song, his tricks and formal manners. But somehow Henry Sieburg misses the mark. (Turns to his wife who nods approval.)

Montana—(Imitating Sieburg)

*He loves life and he wants to live
Da de-da de-da de-da de-da de-da da da da da.*

(Doing another cartwheel and ending in a characteristically arrogant pose of Sieburg's.)
(Laughter from the Trail Riders.)

(Dr. Lindsay Morrow, George Benson & John Yates remain silent but look significantly at each other.)
(Sounds of a dispute are heard from Sieburg's teepee. Group turn and see shadows on sides of teepee make angry silhouetted gestures.)

Bill Colby—(Blatantly) This should be embarrassing. But I'm beyond caring. It might prove interesting. (Group are in silence, wait and listen.)

Mrs. Sieburg—Henry, I don't want to go. It is I am who paying for this trip, I do like the mountain trail rides.

Henry Sieburg—Vera, I have to leave. To-morrow morning at the latest. Do you hear me. My work is done. We have no time to lose.

Mrs. Sieburg—Your work is done. You have no time to lose. You want this. You want that. Bah. I'm sick and tired of hearing about you, Henry Sieburg this and Henry Sieburg that . . . until I could scream . . .

Henry Sieburg—Go ahead, why don't you. Donner Wetter! Damned hysterical . . . no name for you.

Mrs. Sieburg—For once I am going to get my way, Henry. I like dignity. You don't know what that is. I like reticence. You've no conception what that could mean. Your indiscret questions will get you into trouble. Perhaps not with these kindly Canadians, but somewhere your arrogance and stupidity will be your betrayer. I don't want to be there then. I am finished. Completely.

Henry Sieburg—You, my dear Vera Rosenblatt, will be my betrayer. Oh yes. And then, (Menacing gestures on teepee walls).

You are coming with me my little dove, so sorry you do not like the eagle's nest.

(Roaring now)

You are coming with me—

(Shadows show Henry Sieburg angrily flinging clothes into dunnage bag . . . and Mrs. Sieburg sitting motionless.

(Sounds of a horse approaching are heard. R.C.M.P. Officer appears from back stage. He walks up to Dr. Lindsay Morrow, quietly talks to him. Dr. Morrow beckons to John Yates.)

(Group becomes silently inquisitive.)

John Yates—(Looking grim and addressing Trail Riders).

A German prisoner is in this neighbourhood who is said to have escaped some time ago from the Prisoner-of-War Camp on the other side of the mountain. He is a tough number, they say. Those who wish to volunteer and to form a search party, please consult Dr. Morrow or myself. The remaining members of the Trail Ride must return to Banff to-morrow. We do not want any trouble.

(Sieburg & his wife both become black statuesque silhouettes on teepee walls.)

RCMP Officer—Are these the only members present on this Trail Ride.

(Giving a sweep of his arm and eyeing everyone quizzically.)

John Yates—No, Sergeant McDonald.

(Pointing with emphasis in direction of Sieburg teepee.)

Sergeant McDonald—Then, I would like to see them. Now. I think I know who they are.

(John Yates, Dr. Morrow & George Benson nod significantly.)

John Yates—(Going to Sieburg's teepee and calling in a strained voice)

Mr. Sieburg. Mrs. Sieburg. Please, would you come. It is urgent. Some one who says he knows you.

(Henry Sieburg & his wife march out of teepee. Appear before Sergeant McDonald and Trail Riders at bonfire.

Sieburg looks cockier and more arrogant than ever.)

Sieburg—(Insolently) Who dares disturb me so?

Sgt. McDonald—(Looking sharply at Sieburg and ignoring his question).

Mr. Sieburg, do you know anything about a German prisoner-of-war who escaped from the Bow Camp not so far from here. Please show me your papers, Mr. Sieburg.

Henry Sieburg—(Truculently) Yes, of course, how could I not hear the uproar you created. But why should you ask my papers? This is a free country. You do not ask these others for their papers. Why me?

(Sieburg lunges at Bill Colby in a blind rage) You swine! Take my picture, would you!

Sgt. McDonald—(Stepping between Sieburg & Bill Colby) That, Mr. Sieburg, is futile.

(Addressing Sieburg again.) This is a freer country than you would have it be. You ask far too many questions. It is our turn to ask you a few questions. But not here.

(Mrs. Sieburg is white with fear.)

(Henry Sieburg pulls paper out of his inner jacket pocket. Flings them at the feet of Sgt. McDonald. Is about to say something. Decides not to do so. Snarls something under his breath. Turns his back.)

Sgt. McDonald—Mr. & Mrs. Sieburg, you will have to go to Banff to-morrow morning as you had no doubt planned. But this time I shall accompany you.

(Mr & Mrs. Sieburg start to move towards their teepee.)

Sgt. McDonald—Just one moment. One little job has to be done. Routine, you know.

(Goes to them and searches for weapons. Takes Sieburg's knife. Enters teepee, returns in a few moments.)

Now you may enter.

(Bows them in graciously.)

(Sieburg & wife silently disappear behind flaps. Sgt. McDonald sits guard outside.)

Bill Colby—I always thought something was wrong. Montana, remember me saying Sieburg's after something.

Montana—Sure thing Bill. I wonder if Sieburg loves life now. Come Ralph, give us a song.

Leonard Newcomb—(Ignoring Montana's request) Posing as a tourist from New York going on an innocent Rocky Mountain Trail Ride. Clever Man.

Mrs. Snowdon—Poor Mrs. Sieburg. How she hated Henry!

Philip Snowdon—Oh Lindsay, now I know why you, George and John remained so mum during the Ride, especially during our conversations about the Sieburgs. You definitely knew something about them.

Dr. Lindsay Morrow—You are right, Philip. We did. George always kept an armed cowboy handy in case of trouble. The Sieburgs were never out of our sight, although they sometimes thought they were. We were asked to do this small job by the authorities just as we preparing to leave for the Trail Ride. There was no turning back. There never is.

Mrs. Stanhope—(Incredulously) Well, I think you three men are marvellous. You all deserve medals. You deserve everything.

Bill Colby—Now Mrs. Stanhope—Let's get down to brass tacks. The job is not yet completed.
(Looking intently at each member of the Group)

Who among you is going on this Man-hunt. I've got to get back to half wellingtons, zute-suits and charming little temperamental families. But I could scratch around in this underbrush and rocky wilderness for the remaining day and a half.

John Yates—Hands up those who can join the party.

(All but Dr. Morrow's & Mr. Snowdon's hand is shown) All right. We'll make arrangements with Sgt. McDonald first thing to-morrow morning.

Montana taking Bill Colby's hand, getting the mountain-flora-bedecked Mrs. Rockcliffe, the past & present Presidents and Margot Rogers to join in a ring-around-a-rosie singing). We love life, and we want to live.

(Then moving in opposite direction)

You'll get used to it.

Oh, you will get used to it . . .

(Then they all collapse laughing hysterically.)

Philip Snowdon—(His pipe has gone out. He merely sits beside Mrs. Snowdon, quietly smiling. They both soon get up. Philip Snowdon folds up the blankets. They both say in unison.)

Good night all. We've retired. (Chuckles.)

Montana—Adeos. This couldn't happen in Montana. Paul Bunyan would have something to say about it.

(She disappears with Mrs. Stanhope and a small group of Riders).

(Slowly the others leave.)

Sgt. McDonald, Margot Rogers & Bernard Newcomb remain listening to Ralph singing).

Deep in the Valley—Valley Yoho,

Hear the train blow love, hear the train blow.

(Bonfire burns low. Teepees dim. Curtain slowly descends as Ralph dreamily sings.),

Roses are red, love, violets are blue,

Angels in Heaven know I love you.

Know I love you, love, know I love you,

Angels in Heaven know I love you.

Costumes have changed a little—especially with regard to female hair-do's, and there are more denim pants than riding breeches in evidence, but the Trail Ride marches down the years little changed from the original pattern set up by the "Founding Fathers" R. H. Palenske, J. M. Gibbon, Reginald and Mrs. Townsend, Walter I. Nixon twenty-four years ago. On these pages unfolds a pictorial panorama of the Trail Ride, proving that zestful fun in the great Canadian Rockies is the lodestone that has drawn an estimated 2,000 riders to the teepee camps.

(Photos by C.P.R. except those of 1932 and 1934 which are by Associated Screen News.)

1931. The alpine meadow at the head of Johnston Creek gave the riders a magnificent view.

1927. The pack train crosses Wolverine Pass.

1932. Marvel Lake greeted the riders as they toiled up Wonder Pass. Riders on the 1944 jaunt saw it too, en route to Mount Assiniboine.

1928. Riders take a breath-taking view of the Lake of the Hanging Glaciers.

1933. The tenth annual ride took the boys and girls across Dolomite Pass, 8,000 feet up, near Lake Louise. They looked a little tired afterwards.

1934. Wilf Carter, the cowboy minstrel, led the procession strumming his "gee-tar".

1937. Sing-songs around the campfire were as popular then as now.

1935. Ptarmigan and Baker Lakes provided scenery and fishing of a high order. The 1945 cavalcade also camped at the base of Baker Creek near that famous waterfall.

1939. Mr. and Mrs. Alistair Fraser, of Montreal, spent their honeymoon on the Trail Ride. With them (right) was Maxwell F. Coplan, the New York photographer, since become a globe-trotter.

1936. Dr. Wesley Prowd, of St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, was President. Mount Assiniboine was the objective and here we see part of the Cavalcade en route to Golden Valley.

1944. The Order comes of age and John Murray Gibbon, in honor of the occasion, is named by Stony Indians "Chief Man of Many Sides."

Why I Quit the Broncs Bustin

By CHARLES I. LOVELL

When I wuz young, a good deal longer ago than I like tuh think o' now'days, I wuz top bronc buster for the Tumblin' L spread, down in the Texas Panhandle. The mayor-domo, ole Jim Hanks, (what ev'rybody called Sunset—arter the color o' his hair), had more hoss savvy 'n any two men ever rode the range, an' built the Tumblin' L intuh the best outfit in the Lone Star state. I kinder reckon I'd be there yit, herdin' the ponies, if ole Sunset hadn't been so plumb onreas'nable 'bout a li'l mistake we hands made one wintuh.

Yuh see, 'twuz thisaway: the ranch was gittin' a shipment of mustangs from Oklahoma, so the boss sends us out tuh run up a corral big 'nough tuh hol' the new cavy. Wal, Sluefoot Jones—that's my pard, an' a squarer fella never hazed broncs—gits the job, 'long with me, an' I tell yuh, 'twuz a humdinger. Yuh see, they warn't no post wood nearer'n Kiyote Canyon, an' that wuz twenty mile away, ez the crow flies. So we figured ez we had a hull month's job 'fore us, totin' in the wood.

Wal, Sluefoot had quite a thinker on 'im, yes-siree, an' he gits this idea as how we can mebbe save time, an' still do a bangup job on the corral. Sezze, "Why don't we git the makin's o' the corral over tuh Rimrock Mesa?"

"Rimrock Mesa?" sez I, "What's the big idea? Hell, they ain't no timber over thataway—nothin' more'n a motte o' two o' greasewood. Rimrock's too allfired dry tuh be anythin' more'n a rattlesnake heaven, if yuh ast me."

"That's jest the idea," comes back Sluefoot, with a grin on his puss like a li'l dogey what's foun' a new ma. "Ain't it been twenty b'low ever since that blue norther las' month, so won't all them there rattlers be 'friz stiff's a corpse? Shore? Wal,—why'n'ell can't we use 'em for corral posts, stead o' workin' our pants off rustlin' wood from Kiyote Canyon?"

Wal, tuh make a long story short, like the man sez, we forked our cayuses over tuh Rimrock. Jest like Sluefoot sez, there's them there rattlers holed up for the wintuh, an' all friz stiff's a bride's first biscuits. So we gathered 'em up in our arms, like they wuz cordwood for the chuckwagon, an' toted 'em off tuh the corral. Then we druv 'em in with sledgehammers an' strung barb wire on 'em—an' made a right smart corral—if it's me as sez so.

Ole man Hanks wuz tickled pink, yuh bet, an' congratulated me'n Sluefoot on bein' so smart, an' give us both a raise. But the trouble wuz, the gratitude wore off plumb quick, like the gol' on a dolluh watch. So a couple weeks later all hell busted loose, an' me'n Sluefoot lit a shuck—him for Hollywood an' the hoss op'ries—an' me for the Windy City an' the stock-yards.

Yuh see, one thing Sluefoot hadn't figured on wuz as Spring'd be comin' long purty soon, an' thawin' out all them rattlers. Then the doggoned varmints shed the barb wire an' hightailed it back tuh the Mesa. Sunset was fit tuh be tied, yuh bet, losin' all them new hosses: an' so that's how I come tuh give up bronc bustin' an' foun' me a healthier climate—even if the drinkin' watuh does smell like a swimmin' pool!

Editorial Note on the Constitution

At the Council Meeting of the Trail Riders held at Windy Camp, it was felt that some revisions were due to be made in the Constitution and By-Laws, particularly in view of the change to a Central Base Camp instead of the old succession of overnight Camps along a selected route. The Central Base Camp involves less wear and tear on the equipment, and it is not difficult to find a location from which trails radiate with sufficient variety to satisfy the riders. Moreover, the demand for reservations was becoming quite a problem which was solved more easily by holding two Camps instead of moving unwieldy parties in one bunch.

This enabled us to take care of a hundred and twenty Trail Riders last year—which would have been physically impossible under the old plan which was devised twenty five years ago.

A Constitution Committee was appointed consisting of Marshall Diverty, J. M. Gibbon and Fred Laidlaw, and their recommendations are printed on pages 23-27 of this Bulletin. According to the Constitution, Amendments proposed have to be submitted to the members sixty days before the Annual Meeting, and the easiest way of doing this seemed to be to print them in the Bulletin.

AMENDED CONSTITUTION

*As proposal by the Special Committee
(See page 20) Amendments are in italics.*

Article 1

The name of this Order shall be Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies. It shall have an official seal which shall bear the name of the Order.

Article 2

The aims of this Order are:

(a) To encourage travel on horseback through the Canadian Rockies; to foster the maintenance and improvement of old trails and the building of new trails; to advocate and practise consideration for horses, and to promote the breeding of saddle horses suitable for high altitudes; to foster good-fellowship among those who visit and live in these glorious mountains; to encourage the love of outdoor life, the study and conservation of birds, wild animals and alpine flowers; to protect the forests against fire; to assist in every way possible to ensure the complete preservation of the National Parks of Canada for the use and enjoyment of the public; to create an interest in Indian customs, costumes and traditions; to encourage the preservation of historic sites as related to the fur-trade and early explorers, and to co-operate with other organizations with similar aims.

(b) To prepare and circulate maps, descriptions and illustrations of existing and proposed trails, and the country to which they give access in the Canadian Rockies, and to publish from time to time literature pertaining to such trails and the work of this Order.

(c) To encourage legislation designed to preserve to the public for all time rights of way on established trails and free access by trail to mountain, lake, river and forest.

(d) To help maintain the observance of close and open seasons for fish and game as established by duly constituted authority.

Article 3

The spirit of this Order shall be a reverence for the majesty and beauty of nature.

Article 4—Membership

1. Membership in this Order shall be open to all—irrespective of sex, age, race, creed, profession or color. A member shall be called a Trail Rider.

2. Qualification of a Trail Rider shall consist of an established record of not less than fifty miles ridden on horseback or on foot accompanied by a horse over trails in the Canadian Rockies. It is not necessary that the mileage be ridden on consecutive days or in any one year. The record shall be considered established when approved by the Membership Committee hereinafter specified. Trail Riders shall be entitled and encouraged to wear a button incorporating the official design of the Order engraved or stamped in metal, according to the following grade of membership:—

- | | | | |
|-----|-------------------------------|-------------|---------------------|
| (a) | For a record of not less than | 50 miles | *bronze |
| (b) | “ | 100 | *silver |
| (c) | “ | 250 | *silver and enamel. |
| (d) | “ | 500 | *gold. |
| (e) | “ | 1,000 | *gold and enamel. |
| (f) | “ | 2,500 miles | *full color enamel. |

Hon. Membership—It shall be within the discretion of the Officers to recommend to the Annual Meeting for honorary membership any person of distinction associated with trail riding.

Territory

3. The term “Canadian Rockies” in connection with this Order shall be defined as limited on the South by the International Boundary latitude 49°; on the East by the foothills from Waterton Lakes National Park to Morley, Alberta, and from Morley by the Meridian to the 54° parallel of latitude; and on the West by the Western leg of the Columbia River and Canoe River, and from the source of the Canoe River by the Meridian to the 54° parallel of latitude, which shall be the northern limit of the territory.

Article 5—Government

(a) The general management of this Order shall be vested in a Council which shall consist of not less than twenty, and not more than thirty, Trail Riders in good standing. The Council shall be elected at the Annual Camp of the Order.

(b) The General Officers shall consist of a President, five Vice-Presidents, and one Secretary-Treasurer. The President shall be the Executive Chief of the Order. It shall be the duty of the Vice-Presidents to act in the absence of the President, and generally to supervise the organization of local squadrons, if any, in Canada, the United States and the British Empire outside Canada. Two Vice-Presidents shall be resident in Canada, two in the United States, while the fifth shall represent the lady members of the Order. The President, Vice-Presidents and Secretary-Treasurer shall be ex-officio members of Council. The President and Secretary-Treasurer shall be ex-officio members of all Committees. The term of each of these General Officers shall be one year, or until his or her successor is elected and qualifies. The first General Officers shall be elected at the Annual Camp of the Order.

(c) At the election of Council and General Officers at the Annual Camp, each Trail Rider, in good standing, present in person or by proxy, shall be entitled to cast one vote for each candidate, and a majority of votes so cast shall determine the choice.

(d) The council shall appoint from its own number an executive committee to which it may delegate any of its duties or powers. This committee is hereby vested with the authority of the council to act for it in all matters between meetings of council. This committee shall consist of seven members supplemented by the superintendents of the Banff and Yoho National Parks who shall act in an advisory capacity. Any four of the seven members of this committee shall constitute a quorum. They shall hold office for one year or until their successors shall be elected and qualified.

(e) The Council shall appoint a Membership Committee consisting of seven Trail Riders, each of whom must have qualified for the gold button of the Order. This Committee shall submit recommendations to the Executive Committee on candidates for membership, and its decision on mileage shall be considered final. It shall serve for one year or until its successors are elected and qualify.

(f) The general officers may also include an Assistant Secretary-Treasurer who shall perform such duties of the Secretary-Treasurer as may be expressly delegated to him by the Secretary-Treasurer. He shall forthwith become the Secretary-Treasurer with all his privileges and duties, in the event of a vacancy in said office, and continue as such until his successor is elected and qualified.

Article 6—Local Squadrons

Where twelve or more Trail Riders are domiciled within convenient distance of one another, as, for instance, in a city, such Trail Riders shall be encouraged to form a local Squadron which may appoint its own Local Chairman and hold local meetings or camps from time to time, at which the Squadron may foregather. Such local Squadrons may appoint local secretaries or treasurers or secretary-treasurers and may assess such Trail Riders as desire to belong to such local Squadrons local dues supplementary to the general dues (see By-Laws, Article 6) not exceeding $2.00 for local expenditures. A properly audited financial report of such collections and expenditures shall be submitted to the General Secretary-Treasurer not later than July 1st, and shall be incorporated by the Secretary-Treasurer in his Annual Report. The organization of such local Squadrons shall be assisted by the Vice-Presidents in their respective territories.

Article 7—Meetings

The Annual Camp of this Order shall be held in the summer of each year, at a date and place to be determined by the Council. Should there be two or more Camps in any Summer, that Camp which comes in the last week end of July shall be counted as the Official Annual Camp. Meetings of the Council shall be called by the President through notices issued by the Secretary-Treasurer, whenever he shall deem it necessary, or whenever requested by two members of the Council. At least 14 days' notice of such meeting shall be given to the members of the Council by the Secretary-Treasurer. A Council meeting shall be held immediately preceding the Official Annual Camp.

Article 8—Funds

(a) All funds of the Order shall be deposited by the Secretary-Treasurer in the name of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies in such bank or banks as shall be designated by the Council.

(b) All disbursements of the funds of this Order shall be by cheque drawn by its Secretary-Treasurer upon its deposit account after such payments have been ordered by the Executive Committee and evidenced by voucher signed by a member of the Executive Committee.

(c) In cases of emergency the Secretary-Treasurer may make disbursements not exceeding $100.00 without an order from the Executive Committee, subject to approval by the Executive Committee at its next meeting.

(d) An audit of the financial transactions of the Order shall be made in June of each year by a chartered accountant designated by the Council. The cost of audit to be borne by the Order.

(e) Any person having charge or control of funds of this Order shall furnish such bond at the expense of the Order as the Council shall require.

(f) All records and books of the Order shall be kept open for inspection by any member of the Order at any reasonable time.

Article 9—By-Laws

Subject to the provisions of the Constitution, the Council may make, alter or amend the By-Laws at the Annual Camp, by a two-thirds vote of members present.

Article 10—Notices

Each member of the Order shall furnish to the Secretary-Treasurer an address to which notices may be sent.

Article 11—Dissolution

By resolution adopted by the Council, and ratified by a three-fourths vote of members present at a special meeting called for the purpose, this Order may be dissolved with due regard to the dissolution of an Order. Upon dissolution, the Council shall have full power to dispose of the property of the Order and over the division thereof.

Article 12—Amendments

This Constitution may be amended by a vote of three-fourths of the members of the Order, voting in person, by mail or by proxy, at the Annual Camp. No proposition to amend the Constitution shall be acted upon unless it shall have been authorized by resolution of the Council, or shall have been presented in writing to the Secretary-Treasurer, signed by at least twenty-five (25) members, and notice embodying the purport of the proposed amendment shall have been sent to each member of the Order at least sixty (60) days prior to the date of the Annual Camp.

The Secretary-Treasurer shall inform the Council as to any amendment proposed by members, as above provided for, and the Council shall give due consideration thereto, and report its opinion to the membership thirty (30) days before the date of the Camp.

BY-LAWS

Article 1—Meetings

At all Annual Camps of the Order at least thirty (30) members shall be present in person to constitute a quorum.

If no quorum should be present the presiding officer shall adjourn the Camp to a day and hour fixed by him. Any Camp held upon the adjourned date shall have the same effect as if held on the date originally set.

Members absent from the appointed place of meeting on the date of the Annual Camp may vote at the said meeting upon all questions, motions or resolutions previously announced in the call for said meeting by delivering to the Secretary-Treasurer on or before 6 p.m., one week preceding said meeting, by mail, a written or printed ballot setting forth the vote of the member and signed personally by the member voting. The Council shall determine the form of voting by proxy.

Article 2—Council

Seven (7) members of the Council present in person shall constitute a quorum at meetings of the Council.

The Council may at any meeting remove the Secretary - Treasurer by a two - thirds vote.

Should any vacancy occur or be anticipated either among the general officers or on the Council, the Council shall have the power to choose temporarily officers or councilmen to fill any such actual or anticipated vacancy to be effective immediately upon the existence of the vacancy. Such temporary officers or councilmen shall have the same duties and powers as though elected at the annual camp and shall hold office until the next annual camp of the Order or until successors are duly chosen.

Article 3—Duties of Officers

The position of all General Officers shall be honorary. It shall be the duty of the President to preside at the Annual Camp and all meetings of the Order and of the Council and to act as the Executive Chief of the Order. In his absence his duties shall be performed by one of the Vice-Presidents. It shall be the duty of the Secretary-Treasurer to send out required notices, to attend to correspondence addressed to the league, to keep accurate books of account, to receive all money accruing to the Order, to deposit such funds as hereinafter prescribed, to account to the Order at its Annual Camp and any other time upon request to the Council. Upon his retirement from office he shall turn over to his qualified successor or to the President all funds and property in his possession belonging to the Order. He may be empowered to supply such paid assistance as the Executive Committee may authorize.

Article 4—Contracts

No agreement, contract or obligation involving the payment of money, or the credit or liability of the Order, shall be made, and no printed matter or printed statement of any kind shall be issued by or on behalf of the Order unless the same be authorized or directed by the Executive Committee.

Article 5—Discipline

1. Any member who shall be in any wise indebted to the Association, or any member who shall be guilty of any act, omission or conduct which is prejudicial to the welfare of the Order, or any member who shall fail to observe any of the requirements of the Constitution, By-laws, or any Lawful order of the Council, or of any Committee or of any Officer of the Order, in the discretion of the Council, may be either censured, suspended, expelled from membership, required to resign, or his or her membership may be otherwise terminated, or he or she may be otherwise punished.

2. In such case the Council shall act only upon charges preferred in writing, and after a hearing, at which the accused may be present, and of which he or she shall have at least thirty (30) days' notice sent to him or her by registered mail at the address furnished by him or her.

3. From any resolution of the Council inflicting any penalty on a member or affecting his or her membership, said member may appeal to the Order. The accused member shall have at least thirty (30) days' notice sent him or her by registered mail of the time and place of the meeting at which the appeal is to be considered and may be heard. No member may take any action to review the action of the Council until after an appeal to the Order is taken and decided. Pending an appeal the accused member shall have none of the privileges of membership.

Article 6—Membership Dues, Etc.

1. All members shall sign the Constitution and By-Laws of the Order either in person or by agent, proxy or attorney as the Council may by resolution provide.

2. Members in good standing may resign. In the event of the termination of any membership by resignation, expulsion or any other cause, the rights of the member in and to any property or assets of the Order shall cease.

3. The reinstatement of any member who has resigned or been expelled is left to the discretion of the Council.

4. The annual general dues of the Order shall be $2.00 and shall be paid not later than the date of the Annual Camp of each year. Members who shall fail to make payment within thirty (30) days thereafter shall cease to be in good standing, and, furthermore, shall be notified of such failure by the Secretary-Treasurer. If within fifteen (15) days after said notice is mailed said dues shall remain unpaid, the Council shall have power to take such action as it may deem proper, and until such action is taken all rights of the member are suspended. An additional charge shall be made for the buttons at the rate of $2.50 each for the bronze buttons, $3.50 each for the silver buttons, $4.00 each for the silver and enamel buttons, $5.00 each for the gold buttons, and $6.00 each for the gold with enamel buttons. (These prices having been raised to meet increased cost of manufacture and Sales Tax).

5. The Secretary-Treasurer shall collect membership dues when final payment for any Trail Ride is made.

6. Any person elected to membership in the Order shall pay his dues within thirty (30) days thereafter, otherwise his election shall be void.

7. Members holding qualification of 500 miles and upwards may compound their future annual dues by payment of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars which shall absolve them from further payment of annual dues but shall not exempt them from special dues or assessments should such be considered necessary.

8. A Trail Rider may become a life member of the Order upon the payment of $100.00. Such payment shall exempt the life member from any further dues and assessments, except the cost of buttons.

Article 7

"A deposit of $10.00 shall accompany all applications for reservations upon any authorized Trail Ride. Each applicant for such reservation shall deposit $10.00 with the Secretary-Treasurer before such application is acceptable and in the event of cancellation of such reservation subsequent to June 15, the reservation deposit shall not be refunded."

Article 8—Office

The office of this Order shall, until the Council decide otherwise, be for the month of August at Banff, Alberta, and for the rest of the year at the office of the Secretary-Treasurer.

Article 9—Committees

1. The Council shall determine all matters relating to its Committees and appoint all members thereof. Members of Committees need not be members of the Council. Nothing in the Constitution or By-Laws shall be construed to limit the right of the Order as a whole to vote the appointment of a Committee for specific purposes at the Annual Camp.

Article 10—Advertising and Publicity

The Council may, from time to time, publish or cause to be published, such advertising or other publicity matter which will be helpful to the members as it deems advisable.

Article 11—Surplus

In case that at the end of any fiscal year there should be a cash surplus in the Order's treasury, the Council may at its discretion allocate a portion of said surplus to the extension of the work of the Order or to any loan, benefit, insurance, or contingency fund that the Order may establish.

Article 12—Order of Business

The order of business at the Annual Camp meeting shall be:—

1. Reading and Approval of Minutes.
2. Reports of Officers.
3. Reports of Committees.
4. Appointment of Tellers.

5. Voting.

6. General Business.

Article 13—Rules of Order

The rules of order shall be governed by the latest edition of Bourinot's "Canadian Parliamentary Procedure".
